Passed by the House of Assembly this 26th day of May, 2009.

LEGAL REPORT

This Act introduces a regime for the licensing and supervision of financing business and money services business carried on in or from within the Virgin Islands. The Act, in effect, seeks to fully comply with the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) Recommendation 23 which, amongst other things, requires that natural and legal persons who provide money or value transfer services, or money or currency changing services, should be licensed or registered. Thus the Act provides the legislative framework for the licensing, regulation and supervision of a BVI business company or foreign company that engages in the provision of money or value transfer services, including money or currency changing services (respectively brought under the rubric of "financing business" and "money services business").

2. In essence, a BVI business company or foreign company carries on financing business if

- (a) the company carries on, in the Virgin Islands, the business of providing credit under financing agreements to persons resident in the Virgin Islands;
- (b) in the course of any business, he or she provides credit under a financing agreement in an amount or to a value in excess of $50,000;
- (c) the company carries on the business of leasing property under financing leases; or
- (d) the company carries on such other business or activity as may be specified as financing business.

3. On the other hand, the Act considers a BVI business company or foreign company as carrying on money services business if the company provides any or all of the following services: (a) money transmission; (b) cheque cashing; (c) buying and selling foreign currency, including spot and forward exchange transactions and wholesale money market dealings; (d) the issuance, sale or redemption of money orders or traveller's cheques; and (e) such other services as may be prescribed in Regulations; this also includes the business of operating as an agent or franchise holder of any such business.

4. As provided by clause 3, the Act would not apply to a BVI business company or foreign company licensed under the Banks and Trust Companies Act, 1990 (No. 9 of 1990) (for which a separate statutory licensing regime exists), or a post office operated by the Government and carrying on money services business, unless such person is operating as an agent or franchise holder of a non-bank financial business or a money services business. These would continue to offer all the services that they would normally offer and they would continue to do so without the need to be licensed under the proposed Act. They would, however, be governed by the current laws governing anti-money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism activities.

5. Under the proposed regime, non-bank financial businesses and money services businesses would be licensed and regulated by the Financial Services Commission. By virtue of clause 32, the Act (when enacted) would be included in the list of regulatory legislation in Part 1 of Schedule 2 to the Financial Services Commission Act, 2001 (No. 12 of 2001). Thus, the Commission would, in addition to its powers under the proposed Act, be able to administer and enforce the Act (when the enactment process is completed), and regulate non-bank financial businesses and money services businesses, in accordance with the Financial Services Commission Act, 2001.

6. The Act makes it a criminal offence for a person to carry on a non-bank financial business or money services business unless it is a BVI business company or foreign company licensed under the Act. Furthermore, it provides that such a business would not be licensed unless it fully complies with the requirements of the Act (see clauses 9 and 12). The Act also makes provisions relating to a licensee's obligations with respect to the appointment and termination of directors and other senior officers, the disposal or acquisition of significant interest (defined in clause 2 (1)) in the licensee, the establishment and maintenance of a principal office in the Virgin Islands and restrictions on the opening of branch or representative offices by a licensee. The Act further deals with the issue of corporate governance in relation to the need for a licensee to maintain an adequate number of directors (the minimum being two – clause 17), develop and maintain clear and appropriate management systems and controls and keep and maintain proper records.

7. A BVI business company or foreign company licensed to carry on financing business or money services business (and one BVI business company or foreign company may be licensed to carry on both activities – clause 8 (2)) is required to comply with certain imperatives relating to the preparation of financial statements and the conduct of audit (clauses 20 – 31). Financial statements, including periodic financial statements and reports, are required to be submitted to the Financial Services Commission (“the Commission”) within a period of six months after the end of a licensee's financial year; this would enable the Commission to satisfy itself that the licensee is operating its business in a sound manner in accordance with the precepts of the Act. Furthermore, every licensee is obligated to appoint, with the prior approval of the Commission, a qualified person to audit its financial statements and compliance with anti-money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism measures as contained in other enactments. An auditor is required to report to the Commission any information relating to the affairs of a licensee which, in his or her opinion, suggests that the licensee is insolvent, is engaged or had engaged in a criminal activity, is in breach of any condition of its licence or has breached any enactment relative to money laundering or terrorist financing. Where an auditor fails to fulfil his or her obligations under the Act, the Commission may revoke the auditor's appointment and require the licensee to appoint another person in his or her stead.

8. The Act makes further provisions relating to general supervisory matters – the need to maintain professional indemnity and other insurance, submitting returns and reporting of information to the Commission, prohibition against issuing misleading or incorrect literature concerning a licensee's business, adopting reasonable steps to protect and ensure the fair treatment of customers, seeking prior approval from the Commission before changing a licensee's name (including the Commission's power to require a change of name where existing name is likely to deceive or mislead or is simply undesirable and prohibition against the issuing of any bearer shares (clauses 32 – 39).

9. The Act concludes with miscellaneous provisions which essentially outline the manner of submitting applications for licences, maintenance of a register of licensees and inspection thereof, electronic filing, offences and penalties and consequential amendments. There are two Schedules to the Act, respectively dealing with modifications to the Act and the Financial Services Commission Act, 2001 in relation to a post office and the applicable penalties to the offences outlined in the Act.

10. The enactment of this Act will further strengthen the Virgin Islands' continued regulation of relevant business entities in its financial services sector and demonstrate the Territory's continued compliance with established international standards relating to efficient, prudential and effective regulation.

11. The Act was introduced in the House of Assembly on the 23rd day of December, 2008 and passed through the remaining stages on the 26th day of May, 2009.

12. In my opinion, His Excellency the Governor may properly assent to this Act in the name and on behalf of Her Majesty.
